Hi John,

Thank you for your email. We will review the suggested revisions with other folks within EPA.

Subject: suggested changes to website language

A few things on your website you should consider revising. On your database page, you may want to change this language, now that May 15 has passed:

- ☐ Only Show Currently Certified Models that are 2020 NSPS Compliant
- ☐ Include Previously Certified Models That Are Out of Production

On this page, the Background and Key Terms page, I would add the following language in red.

Step 1: in compliance with the emission limits when the rule became effective on May 15, 2015

Step 2: in compliance with emission limits 5 years after the effective date, which is May 15, 2020.

Sincerely,

John Ackerly
